The Global Supply Chain Network

The Bundesvereinigung Logistik (BVL) e.V. is a German-based non-profit organisation which serves as an open network for logistics and supply chain management experts. The aim of BVL is to promote an awareness for the importance of logistics and SCM in the industrial and public sectors by acting as a neutral platform. Today, BVL has more than 11,000 members – companies and individuals from the worlds of industry, commerce, services and science who are actively involved in the business of logistics and supply chain management. BVL is a primarily honorary network of experts that sees its job as to support the exchange of knowledge ideas among members. At the same time, BVL consciously avoids representing corporate interests, does not act as a lobbyist and has no agenda in the political field.

Supply Chain Management on-site

Thanks to its honorary Chapter Chairpersons, BVL is available on-site for its members across the globe. They act as contacts for each member and organise around 300 free of charge events each year where participants can experience hands-on Supply Chain Management content. As well as the Chapter Chairpersons, there are also dedicated BVL Representatives who serve as contact persons for their regions and assist with the network's activity.

Share Ideas and Global Perspectives!

BVL focuses on systematically establishing international contacts which benefit its members. The establishment of Regional Groups and Chapters has proved to be highly effective for creating close-knit networks of supply chain and logistics experts. BVL International Chapters and Representatives are not only contacts, but also showcase hands-on strategies and solutions, and at the same extend our network around the world. The BVL Office in Bremen supports this active process.

International Partners and Events

Further to the Chapter and Representatives Events, BVL co-organises highly respected supply chain events with international partners in locations such as Atlanta, Shanghai, Istanbul, Moscow, Seoul, and Rio de Janeiro. Strong alliances have also been formed within the framework of the European Logistics Association (ELA), with LOGY in Finland, for example, and ASLOG in France. Moreover, each October, supply chain managers from more than 40 countries come together in Berlin for BVL's annual International Supply Chain Conference, which is known to be one of the biggest business conferences worldwide.

Why BVL? Chapter Chairpersons share their views

“BVL is a great platform for professionals, academics, experts, and newcomers to connect. As a Chapter Chairperson I simply provide a stage and I am always delighted to witness how much the community shares on it.”

Andreas Radke

BVL Chapter Singapore Chairperson

“In this community, not only are advanced technology and the best practices on display for members in rich, diversified manners, there is also a real passion for logistics.”

Jean Wang

BVL Chapter China – Beijing Chairperson

“The BVL provides me with an international focus and qualities that I haven't found elsewhere. This is the driving factor behind wanting to expand the network and provide more and better content in the US Southeast.”

Steven D. Markham

BVL Chapter US – Southeast Chairperson

“Networking with supply chain professionals from across Europe, sharing best practices, and exchange of proven methodologies really help to manage your daily business.”

Marek Sielski

BVL Chapter Poland Vice Chairperson
